www.marksillay.com Mark Sillay gave us a fantastic demo at Daves place Saturday am and he was hard pressed to be done by 12,, matter fact it was nearly 12.30.. That guy has so much knowledge tucked in his brain he just wants to get all out and show everyone.

Comments Walnut oil for cutting boards and or bowls. Walnut oil will not grow mold.. Everyone has a different opinion on what to use for sure. He also threw info about Parsons Adhesive. A slower drying ca glue with no smell. A 2 oz bottle costs $ 14.00.

We all got our lunch and moved over to Glynn Arts building of Island Drive next to the runway. Kinda of a out of the way place. Had 5 lathes for hands on learning. Jim Welch brought two lathes and a sharpener system,, Herb had his lathe, Tom Cates and Dave Loehle each brought one. Everyone I think learned some new ideas. To retain them is the problem though. Practice practice.

Mark claims as a couple others in group that this stuff is great.. No odor and longer working time. All Mark uses is CA then polish.

This note from our member Steve Dmetruk. I would like to put a blurb in the next newsletter and maybe on our website next month. My wife, Suzy, is an artist and is doing the April exhibit at Goodyear Cottage on Jekyll Island. I will be exhibiting with her as the 3D guy and will have about 30 items I made/am making at the exhibit and would like to invite all GIWW members to the reception on April 7. Lets all try and get over there to see their exhibits.
