Karen's Korner

Greetings Woodworkers

As most of you know, I was fortunate enough to receive the first GIW scholarship. I want to encourage all of our members to consider applying for it in the future.

Any member is good standing who has been in the Club for over a year is eligible.

I chose to use the $500 toward a woodturning class at John C. Campbell Folk School. It was a wonderful experience. At October's Woodworkers' meeting, I will share the highlights of my five day course and general information about the folk school. I chose to do this at the woodworkers' meeting rather than the woodturners' meeting because I feel the information on the school is beneficial to all.

For those of us who do holiday bazaars and the Mistletoe Market at Glynn Visual Art, it is a very busy season. Since I have recently starting experimenting with dyes, I chose to make dyed Christmas ornaments. There is a newly reopened (Oct 3) shop in downtown Brunswick who has contracted with Roy and me for ornaments. It is called Jumbo South, 1215 Newcastle St. Brunswick, GA 31520, Lisa Jinkins. I have pictures of some of my ornaments within.

Woodturner's Meeting

Monthly Meeting – Saturday, October 11, 2014 – 9 a.m. - Roy Yarger's studio at 22 Woodfall Court, Brunswick, Eagle Crest Subdivision off Harry Driggers Blvd. The subject of this meeting will be different ways of finishing your turnings.

President's Message

Fellow Woodworkers and Woodturners,

Fall is officially here. Some cooler weather hopefully, so get out to your shop and start a new project.

The woodturners meeting will focus on woodturning finishing. Bring some work to show the type of finishes you use. Or finishes you have tried but had difficulty with. This will be a group discussion as there is no right or wrong answers.

The woodworkers will have the pleasure of getting a report from Karen on her recent class at John C Campbell. Karen was the person to receive the first annual GIWW scholarship. I hope the club will continue this award in future years. It is a way for the club to give back to its members and for members to expand their woodworking expertise.
